WALLACE'S HOPES SOON FADE AWAY

Headquarters Cheerful at First, but Returns Soon Change Conditions.

The Citizens-Democratic headquarters in the Colonial theatre building was the scene of considerable activity during the day. Hundreds of people crowded into the large room to exchange election gossip, the greatest number being in evidence during the evening after the returns had commenced to come in.

Not until discouraging returns were received and confirmed did the crowd show any signs of diminishing. About 10 o'clock the people who had waited patiently, hoping that further returns would offset those already received, began to disperse, and by 10:30 o'clock the large room was left to a number of the candidates, prominent among whom was the mayoralty candidate, William R. Wallace, and a few of the prime movers in the fusion movement. After American party victory was certain Mr. Wallace called on Chairman Dar-mer to congratulate him. In the early part of the evening Ben T. Lloyd, chairman of the Citizens-Democratic party, and members of the city central committee were quite optimistic. They practically conceded the election of Bransford, and the only concern they manifested in the mayoralty contest was as to whether or not the fusion candidate would defeat Murdoch. Among adherents of the party the belief was general that they would elect a majority of the city council, and one or two on the main ticket.

Headquarters Scenes.

The headquarters presented an interesting scene. Party workers, pads in hand, were kept busy taking down returns as they were telephoned in around the desk, where the large tabulated sheet was kept, were crowded lated sheet was kept, were crowded lated sheet was kept, were crowded lated sheet was people, waiting for anxious people, waiting for the supreme capacity as justice of the supreme capacity as justice of the supreme capacity as justice of the supreme the results in districts to be an-nounced; everywhere were bustle and

The feeling of optimism had taken such strong hold of a few of the more enthusiastic that with them the elec-tion was already won. Mr. Wallace mingled among the crowd, and by these same over-enthusiastic citizens was introduced to a number of out-of-town visitors as the next mayor of Salt

Within a few minutes, however, discouraging returns were piled up in such numbers that the feeling of optimism changed to one of actual gloom, The one bright ray to pierce this gloom dark and depressing—was the news of the election of John Holley and C. M. Lees in the Third ward. Mr. Holley was at headquarters until the last returns were received, and received the congratulations of hundreds of those who strolled in and out during the evening.

"How we lost the election," was the principal subject of discussion among those who remained to the last ditch. Various and sundry reasons were assigned by the stalwarts of the party, chief among which was the lack of or- 000,000. ganization.

Exposures of Police Methods Deter Many From Casting Illegal Ballots.

Only about one-half of the registration in the Fifty-fourth district was voted. In this district there were many illegal registrations, but the exposure of the methods adopted by the American party, which used the police force to round up the vagrants in Commercial street, deterred many from attempting to cast their votes. There were about forty challenges by Ceorge Robinson, acting district chairman for the Republicans, and of these about for the Republicans, and of these about ten were unwilling to swear in their votes. There were eight or ten members of the police force on duty at the polling place in State street all day and deputy sheriffs were there also.

As the time for closing the polls approached the policemen said that they would insist that all who were in line should be allowed to cast their votes and the deputy sheriffs insisted that the machine should be locked at 7 o'clock, as provided by law. The Healing Power of Pine

If you have ever taken a walk through forest of pine trees you will remember low, almost unconsciously, the head was thrown back and lungs expanded as you haled with long, deep breaths the gloribus pine-laden air. How invigorating it was—how healing.

The medicinal virtues of pine have been recognized in medical practice for many years. For coughs and colds the mixture of two ounces of Glycerine with a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whiskey, is highly recommended. It is claimed that a teaspoonful of this mixture, four times a day, will break a cold in twentytimes a day, will break a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable. The ingredients are not expen-sive and can be bought in any good drug store, the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine comound pure being put up for dispensing only by the Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati.

Gaynor was prominently mentioned as a Democratic vice presidential possibility last year and in 1894 he declined the Democratic nomination for governor. He has been a near-candidate for mayor of New York for years, but, as he expressed himself to friends, he wanted to be sure of election—to be elected mayor and then governor, with a view of becoming President of the United States.

Charges Against Gaynor.

During the campaign William M. vins, Republican candidate for mayor n 1905, publicly charged Justice Gayor, then on the bench, with misusing his office for political purposes, and challenged him to bring proceedings for his barment District Attorney Jerome called him

District Attorney Jerome called him a political charlartan, shown in the past to be totally destitute of political courage and whose erratic ability is tinged with a morbidness which is almost akin to insanity—a combination of a demagogue and fanatic."

To these charges Justice Gaynor's friends replied if the promised that he is an old line Democrat, a believer in the axiom, "That government is best which governs least," his decisions and his political life will be found alike consistent. Justice Gaynor, who is 58 years old, married and the father of eight children, first attained prominence in connection with a taxpayer's suit which he caused to be brought against Hugh McLaughlin, one-time Democratic boss of Brooklyn, in the course of which he saved the city $1,000,000.

Herbert Parsons, Republican county

Herbert Parsons, Republican county chairman, said tonight that the election had been the hardest-fought municipal contest ever held in New York.

"It is true that this has been a quiet election," he said, "but there has been much crookedness and I think we shall hear more of this later. Our watchers reported all day long that ballots had been found already marked with a cross in the found already marked with a cross in the Democratic columns before being handed to the voter. McEwan, Republican, mayor of Albany; Hiram N. Edgerton, Republican, re-elected mayor of Rochester; Edward Schoeneck, Republican, mayor of Syracuse; Daniel Sheehan, Democrat, mayor of Elmira, and Dr. Charles C. Durper, Democrat, mayor or Schenectady.

Croker Looked On.

Richard Croker, Tammany's old chief, heard the returns tonight at the Demo-cratic club. It was the first time he had been there on an election night since Seth Low defeated Van Wyck.

"What do you think about it?" he was asked.

"I'm not thinking," said Croker with a smile, "I'm out of politics now, you know I have not mixed up in it and I don't want to. I shall stay in New York five days more, but I will not advise with the leaders of Tammany Hall. Then I am going to Florida. I intend to stay in the country about six months and I shall come back here every year."

Johnson early conceded his defeat by 1,500. With him probably went the bulk of the Democratic ticket, those councilmen who have been conspicuous in their support of his street railways program suffering most.

Before the news of certainty of defeat had changed the rather cheerful feeling among the crowd to one of gloom, a planist played catchy selections, much to the amusement of the waiting people, among whom were many ladies. But the returns changed their viewpoint and music lost its charm, with the result that orders to cease playing were given.
